LEAGUE PROPOSED FOR OHIO MAYORS

100 Executives Get Invitations To Attend Meeting in Columbus.

BY MURRAY POWERS
Staff Correspondent for The Star
By Brush Moore Leased Wire

COLUMBUS, O., June 18—Ohio mayors will be given an opportunity here Friday afternoon to thresh out their common problems and to consider the feasibility of forming an Ohio municipal league.

Mayors from a large number of Ohio cities are expected to attend the conference, which will be approved by the department of political science at Ohio State university. Dr. Harvey Walker of the department has extended invitations to nearly 100 mayor in cities of 5,000 or more population.

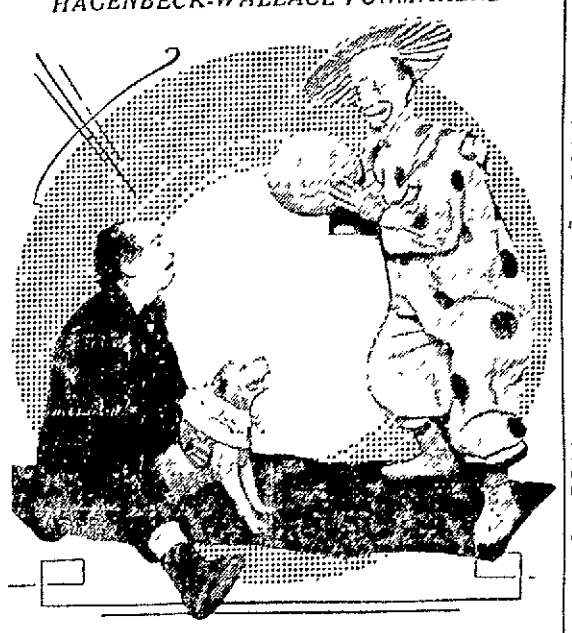
Dr. Walker was active in the organization and operation of a similar municipal league in Minnesota several years ago and he issued the call for the Ohio meeting with the indorsement of prominent Ohio municipal executives.

Three addresses and a round table discussion will comprise the program, Dr. Walker has announced.

Dr. Walker has announced that four points will be considered in the organization of a mayors' league—the feasibility of such a group, what legislature is needed to insure its success, its immediate program and its ultimate purposes. If formed, Dr. Walker declares it will be similar in scope to other state leagues, each city member having an equal voice in its operation and policy.

Pointing out that Ohio has in the past had an Ohio municipal league and that in more recent years it had an Ohio conference of municipalities, Dr. Walker says that in the last 15 years there has been no municipal organization in the state with the same vigor that similar organizations have shown in other states.

HAGENBECK-WALLACE FUNMAKERS



EARL SHIPLEY AND ROY McDONALD

What many newspaper critics say is the funniest collection of clowns before the public will be in evidence when the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus stages two exhibitions here on Monday, June 23.

Prominent among the funsters will be Earl Shipley and Roy McDonald. These two "Merry Andrews" will be assisted by 50 of the whitefaced boys and they will appear in many laughable skits and stunts during the lengthy program.

Hagenbeck-Wallace will bring a number of features, including "The Great Wilno," who is actually shot through space from the mouth of a huge cannon. Among the other important displays will be Clyde Beatty with his 32 lions and tigers, the Flying Herberts, the Motsumotos, the Montmartre Troupe of acrobats and "The Golden Orient," a spectacular presentation of old Japan.

PLAN CONCERT

Program of Sacred Music Will be Presented at U. B. Church.

A sacred musicale concert will be given Sunday night at First United Brethren church on South Prospect. The program will include two special numbers by the Sunday school orchestra, two numbers by the senior choir, two numbers by the junior choir, several selections by the Wooster quartet, two numbers by the male chorus and two numbers by Miss Virginia Fowler and Leonard Young, radio singers.

Fifteen minutes will be given to congregational singing of sacred songs, under the leadership of B. K. Hill.

Sifritt Approves Marion County Tourists Camps

Tourist camps in Marion county temporarily have been provided a clean bill of health as the tourist season gets under way, Dr. N. Sifritt, city county health commissioner, reported today.

The camps are visited regularly by the health commissioner who inspects particularly the water supply. Proper location, sewage and garbage disposal and other sanitary items are considered in the inspection.

"These roadside camps are more and more becoming a problem to health workers," Dr. Sifritt declared.

"A national automobile organization estimates that nearly several million American tourists made long trips last year, and many of this number stopped regularly or occasionally at tourist camps. That the health of this vast army must be guarded is obvious," he said.

The camper really hold the key to the tourist camp situation, in Dr. Sifritt's belief. Campers, by demanding proper sanitation, will do much toward insuring a system of clean tourist camps all over the country, he declared.

"Not only should the camper demand the best from a camp, but he also can aid materially the interests of sanitation by properly disposing of his own garbage," Dr. Sifritt said.

Regulations for camps have been drawn up by the state health department and each owner has been provided a copy as part of an educational campaign being conducted in Ohio for better tourist camps, according to the health commissioner.

"Farm Prices in Plunge to Pre-War Levels," reads a headline. Somebody evidently took advantage of the fact that the farm board wasn't looking.

Fifteen hundred reds are reported by a Bayonne cable to be terrorizing the mill town of Le Boucau in France under orders from Moscow. It's not at all hard to credit the cable. We have had somewhat similar situations in mill towns over here.

The matter of asking Mayor Thompson to resign is being seriously considered up in Chicago. Can it be that the Windy City has already forgotten the great sacrifices made by Big Bill in his relentless war on King George?

The office of the county prosecutor down in Miami, Florida, was burglarized, a few nights since, and all the papers which were thought by the burglars to be connected with the Al. Capone case carried off. Somebody is liable to be taken for a ride for mistaking the carbon copies taken for the originals.

The big German plane, G-38, carrying sixteen passengers, five mechanics and two pilots, was flown from Dessau to Le Bourget air field in Paris one day this week. Aside from settling the bill, the World war seems to be pretty well over.

A Detroit dispatch tells about the smashing up of the kidnaping ring up there by the arrest of four men and three women. Is it to be understood that this is the same Detroit kidnaping ring smashed by the Detroit police two or three weeks since?

It develops that Pittsburgh political grafters have been selling protection to beer racketeers at $10 a barrel. It's the same old story. The alliance between corrupt politicians and the criminal world is not limited to any particular section of the country, nor to the great cities thereof.

A Washington dispatch says the new tariff law is under the fire of the Democrats in the two houses of congress. Naturally. Having secured the schedules they desire for the protection of their constituencies, they consider it good politics to assail the measure that, no matter which way the business cat may jump, they may be in position either to claim credit or disavow responsibility as the case may be.

The Death of Dr. Sperry.

The death of Dr. Elmer Ambrose Sperry in Brooklyn, this week, did not receive the newspaper attention which might well have been anticipated would mark the passing of one of his achievements in the field of invention.

Although responsible for the development and perfection of many important inventions, the doctor was best known for his adaptation of the gyroscopic principle to the stabilizer and the compass which bear his name.

The Sperry gyroscopic stabilizer is being successfully used for the stabilization of both sea and air vessels, and up to the present it is the only device which has proved successful in controlling the roll of surface vessels or steadying the motion of ships of the air of heavier-than-air design.

By the use of the gyroscopic compass either a surface vessel or an airplane may be kept on its true course regardless of wind and rain in the case of the one and the wind in that of the other. As a result of the perfection of the two devices, the elimination of the fog problem, one of the greatest hazards of flying, is foreseen by aviators. By means of the Sperry inventions, a plane may be kept on its course without the attention of a flier at his controls. In a word, the Sperry stabilizer and compass combine to make the robot pilot, of which we have read, which has been thoroughly tested out by the army.

By some the inventions of Sperry are held as important as those of Edison. This is probably putting the proposition a bit strong, but even were the claim well founded, the doctor never has held the place in the public mind held by Edison and probably never will. The explanation is easy. The Sperry inventions are known and their worth recognized by the comparatively few, the Edison inventions by the many. The latter have gone into the home, the business place, the factory, and made therein the name of Edison a household word.

$450,000,000 Entertainment Center.

The latest New York building project is so vast as to be almost beyond the possibility of adequate comprehension. It looks to the construction of a great entertainment center in the heart of the city which will represent a building cost in excess of $200,000,000 on land valued at $250,000,000, the site being the three square blocks, bounded by Fifth and Sixth avenues and Forty-Eighth and Fifty-First streets, purchased by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for the location of a new Metropolitan opera house, the abandonment of the present home of the the Metropolitan opera company having been under consideration.

The plans, which have been approved, embrace a variety theater with a seating capacity of 7,500 to be managed by S. L. Rothafel, four theaters, operated by the Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, for legitimate drama, musical comedy, concerts and motion pictures, and twenty-seven broadcasting stations set in a group of skyscrapers, one of which will be an office building sixty stories in height, in which the offices and studios of the Radio Corporation of America, the National Broadcasting company, the R. C. A.-Victor Corporation of America and the Radio Pictures and R. C. A.-Photophone, Inc., will be located. The buildings will be constructed over the intersecting streets, and from the streets thus arched there will be entrances to garages having an aggregate capacity of 50,000 machines.

The project is the result of the realization, gained through experience, that there is necessity for provision for a radio future in which the listener-in will become the looker-on as well, in which the variety show will become to broadcasting what the jazz orchestra, concert companion and dialogue artists are today. Hence the adoption of this plan whereby the audiences in the theaters are to help carry the cost of presentations in the usual way and the presentations are to be spread by radio over the country.

As the distribution of television by wire to broadcasting stations seems to present engineering difficulties, it is foreseen that television acts will have to travel from point to point, restoring the road to the legitimate theater and the variety stage just as they seemed to be slowly dying.

With Owen D. Young and the various electrical interests he represents vitally interested in the projects, with the various great broadcasting corporations parties to the plan and financed by the Rockefeller interests, there is little doubt but what the great enterprise will become an actuality by 1933 as planned. But even in the knowledge of all the great interests committed to the projected entertainment center, it is hard to contemplate private interests entering into an investment of the kind to the extent of $150,000,000.

However, it may be well to consider the possibility that such a sum may not loom so large in New York City as it does out here in the eastern fringe of the Middle West.

Before a gathering of several thousand power celebrities, Dr. Albert Einstein explained for the first time in Berlin, Monday, his space-swallowing-up-other theory, but there seems to be just as great demand over there for some kind of a chart to explain his explanation as exists here in America.

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., threatens to sue certain papers for libel as the result of editorials, cartoons and news stories run by them concerning him during and since the 1928 campaign. Were the bishop as wise as he seemingly believes himself to be, he should realize that he could do his church and the country a benefit by occupying less space in the news of the day.

Commissioner of Police Russell, of Chicago, has resigned and Chief of Detectives Stege has been demoted as a direct result of the slaying of Alfred L. Lingle. Well, that's somewhat along the line of the theory that the best kind of a shake-up is that which begins at the top and works down. It deviates from the ideal only in that Mayor Thompson is still technically on the job.

A woman school teacher is opposing George W. Norris for the Republican senatorial nomination out in Nebraska. It might be assumed that the Republicans of that state had their fill of one of the most notable political renegades of the 1928 campaign and that there is hope for the success of the woman aspirant, but Nebraska always has been pretty much wedded to its idols.

Contracts have been let for 402 new airplanes and spare parts and 128 new engines and spare parts for the army air corps. Contrary to the pessimistic views entertained in some quarters, our air development so far as regards its mechanical equipment seems to be doing fairly well.

Aimee Semple McPherson was not compelled to pay a fine, but was let off on payment of the $130.55 duty on the raiment purchased abroad she failed to declare on her arrival in New York. Aimee having sprung that good, old standby about having been told that it was not necessary to declare clothing which she had worn. It's pretty near time for that old alibi to be outlawed.

Ralph Capone, the brother of "Scarface Al," has been given a prison sentence of three years for defrauding the government out of income taxes. "If you can't get 'em one way, try another" seems to be the slogan adopted by the decent people of Chicago in their campaign to drive out of the city its racketeers.

It is somewhat surprising that Mr. Muldoon and his associates refuse to turn over to Schmeling the Muldoon championship trophy which was to have been awarded to the victor in the Sharkey-Schmeling fight, even though the fight was won on a foul. There was more or less fouling in the fight by which Sharkey qualified for championship honors, but it in no way barred the fighter who profited by it from participating in the New York match as a principal.

Editorial Opinion.

SIR HENRY SEGRAVE.

Major Sir Henry Segrave had learned so much of value to designers of motor cars and motor boats in racing for speed records that his death will be regarded by them as an irreparable loss. Others will no doubt be sought to fill his place, but it is a question whether such experiments with death hazards should be encouraged. A few miles more an hour can probably be attained, but it has been held that engines and the material used in the construction of cars and boats have been subjected to about as much strain as they can stand. There must be a limit also to the strain which the human system can endure in traveling through the air, on land and on water.

The theorist may be prepared to justify the great hazard in the name of science, to talk of 500 miles an hour for airplanes and corresponding velocities for automobiles and motor boats, but can he make out a case for their application to passenger services? Military uses to a certain extent are perhaps another matter. The Ambuscade class of British destroyers in instances have a speed of forty-four miles an hour, and designers think that it might be raised to sixty miles by employing some of the features of Sir Henry Segrave's Miss England. The suggestion was made when she attained ninety-two miles an hour last September.

The actual cause of the smash-up of Miss England II on Lake Windmere may never be learned. About a year ago Major Segrave himself said that it was hard to understand how the wooden hull of a motor boat "bumping" at eighty miles an hour could stand up. If any other material is used, it must be thin and light. On Lake Windermere Miss England II exceeded 100 miles an hour. On her third attempt she was seen to swerve, and in another moment all was over. Sir Henry Segrave returned to consciousness to ask: "Have I broken the record?" It was for that he was willing to take the most desperate chances.

Sir Henry had written a book, "The Lure of Speed." It may be said that it was his life, and at the end was his death. He quailed only before public demonstrations in his honor. When returning to London a year ago he said: "If I had the choice, I think I would prefer making another attempt at the speed—motor car—record instead of facing all these people." Because he was sensitive a spirit and seemed to face many years of usefulness, his loss is deplorable.—New York Times.

A SOUTHERN VIEW OF LYNCHING.

The stigma of lynching has hung most heavily on the southern states, although, with the exception of New England, scarcely a state in the union has not at one time or another witnessed the consequences of mob madness.

Consequently it is heartening to observe that southern newspapers are taking a determined stand against this method of administering "justice." They teach eyes that are blind to northern comment.

The Atlanta Constitution, which is published in the state that holds the unenviable record for lynchings, albeit latterly it has mended its ways, says, with reference to recent anti-lynching activities in South Carolina:

"The lynching of persons who are in full custody of the law, or could be put there easily for safekeeping and legal disposition, is an uncivilized, lawless and highly-criminal act of mob power. It is an act as abhorrent to all just means it is unnecessary to the obtruding of justice. In every case within memory it has been as cruel and unjustifiable as the act of a giant in strangling a child in its cradle. Public sentiment against the act has served in recent years to largely cut down the number of lynchings, but that sentiment is not yet pervasive enough and strong enough to prevent every sudden and murderous ebullition of mobs inflamed by sudden and revolting crimes committed in a community. But where prevention of a lynching fails because of the weightier force of the mob there should follow prompt and intensive prosecution of the murderers leading the mob. The excuse that none of them can be identified is absurd. The perfect identification, conviction and execution of a few mob leaders would soon put an almost total end to these damnably savage episodes in our current communal life."

Straight talk. We hope it will be taken to heart by those who appear to think that lynching is deprecated only in the North. All decent persons, South and North, are against it. Whether white or black, a lynchee is the victim of a spirit that has no place in this age and country. Certain offenses arouse primitive passions in men and women. Stiffen the laws and penalties—and then insist upon the prompt and rigid enforcement of them. Only in that way will these passions be held within the bounds of orderly government.—Detroit Free Press.

Food Poisoning--Hot Weather Menace

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

For the most part, the foods we eat are wholesome and free from contaminating influences. We need not worry about them. Government regulations and careful inspection of all foodstuffs are so strictly carried out in the United States today that most foods come to us in splendid condition.

But because some foods contain deadly bacteria, or ptomaines, it is incumbent upon us to buy only of reliable dealers. We must learn what are the earmarks of good meats, as well as other foods. We should know their origin, as well as the signs of their freshness and fitness for consumption.

The trouble is that in some instances there is nothing about the food we buy, either before or after it is cooked, to indicate that it is unsafe to eat. Usually we know either by its taste or smell whether the meat or other food is good to eat. Sometimes these bacterial poisons are so resistant to heat that neither roasting nor boiling can destroy them.

Ptomaine poisoning may come from canned meats, or other canned goods. This rarely occurs now, since government inspection is rigidly enforced.

There is probably no animal tissue that decomposes and forms ptomaines as quickly as fish. When taken from its natural element, the water, fish die and decompose very rapidly. Bacteria of a deadly nature form very rapidly in the tissues. Such poisons form much more quikly in the heat than in the cold. Therefore it is very necessary to keep all fish on ice in order to have them fresh and safe for eating.

Apart from the influence of food there are some poisons that develop in the human body. This is true in diseases like typhus fever, Asiatic cholera, or lockjaw.

Ptomaine poisoning varies very much in its severity and character. Its severity depends upon the virulence of the poison, and one's resistance to disease.

The attack may appear immediately after eating the food, or hours or even days may pass before the ill effects are felt. In the latter case the attack is usually most severe, for all the time poisons are at work in the body.

One of the first symptoms of food poisoning is intense itching or pricking of the skin. It is apt to grow in intensity until it is almost unbearable. Soon there are cramps in the intestines, nausea, and vomiting. Fever, headache, dizziness and weak heart action follow.

While waiting for the doctor, the patient should be kept warm in bed. The bowels should be kept open. It is very necessary to eliminate the poisons in the system as soon as possible, and to this end the patient should drink tepid water to which soda has been added. Vomiting may be induced in this way, or by sticking the finger as far back in the throat as possible, the food will be ejected.

Care in the selection and cooking of your foods will keep you from disease. Let us not trust to good luck.

Local Time.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

It is not necessary to be an expert astronomer in order to tell local time. Astronomers are familiar with many helpful rules of thumb which enable them to arrive, as if by magic, at useful results.

Consider, for example, the physical figment known as the sphere of the heavens. The astronomical heaven is a mathematically perfect sphere. The center of this sphere is supposed to be the exact eye of the observer. This, of course, is a mere fiction; but by means of it astronomers can determine with extraordinary accuracy the position of any given point in the universe.

The zenith, or topmost point of the heavens, may readily be determined. Pick out a star which appears to be directly above you. Gazing fixedly at the star, turn around slowly. If you have to move your head or your neck to keep the star in view, it is not vertically above you. After a few trials the zenith-point is finally determined with great accuracy.

A little practice, moreover, will enable you to measure any desired number of degrees on the sphere. Hold out your right hand at arm's length and separate your thumb and middle finger until the tip of your thumb covers one star and the tip of the middle finger the other. Keeping your thumb and middle finger rigid, bring your hand near your eyes and estimate this distance in centimeters. Suppose you find it to be about eight centimeters. Now it happens that this corresponds to eight degrees on our astronomical heaven. The simple rule is—one centimeter at arm's length corresponds to one degree of arc.

Now let us take up the question of determining what is known as local time. To all appearances the whole firmament rotates like a rigid sphere about a fixed line. This fixed line is an imaginary line drawn from the true pole of the heavens to our eye, and thence projected on through the earth. New stars are constantly rising in the east and southeast. This is easy to test. Fix your eye on a star in the east just covered by some stationary point, say the top of a lamppost. By the time we have slowly counted ten the star has "risen" into view. As stars rise in the east, they set in the west.

The following experiment is described in the delightful volume, "Heaven and Earth," by Oswald Thomas, formerly chief, Urania observatory, Vienna.

First, pick out the Pole star, by means of the pointers of the Great Dipper. Now imagine a great circle about the Pole described in the heavens—a stupendous dial which we carry in our mind's eye. This dial is immovable, and it divided into twenty-four equal parts. At the top of the dial, say thirty degrees above the Pole star, we may imagine the figure 0. To the left of the Pole, precisely on the line running from the Pole to the west point, we imagine the figure 6; immediately beneath the Pole, the figure 12; to the right of the Pole, the figure 18, and overhead, where we have imagined 0, we must also imagine 24—representing a complete revolution.

The pointer or hour-hand is the line joining the Pole with the east star in the capital W of Cassiopeia, known as the colure-star. If the colure-star stands immediately above the Pole star the astronomers say: "It is 0—or 24—sidereal time." This rule now to be given holds good for the days near the 21st day of the month—say, the latter half of each month. Suppose we read our huge imaginary clock on October 21, and find that it reads 4 o'clock star-time. Now October on the dial stands opposite the figure 22. Add this figure to 3 and we have 26 o'clock, or 2 a. m. local time. As another example, consider that it is August 21. We find the star-time to say, say 20 hours. Now August is opposite the figure 2. Hence we have the result 20 plus 2 equals 22—or 10 p. m. local time.—Copyright, 1930, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, June 18—There is perhaps no event so eagerly anticipated by writers and artists as the "Dutch Treat" show held each spring. The "Dutch Treat" roster comprises a notable list of men who have won the acclaim of the world in their especial fields.

Members give the lie to the popular misconception the genus artist is addicted to long hair, erratic clothes and unconventional manners. The club has no club-house, but meets every Tuesday noon for luncheon at a midtown hotel, each member paying his own lunch chit.

The group might easily be taken for a crowd of young bankers or a successful group of industrialists. There is not a Latin Quarter hat, a flowing tie or a velveteen coat in the entire assemblage. Yet all are men who have hurdled artistic jumps.

They have carved classics in marble, blazoned canvases with undying colors, molded words into deathless tomes and composed throbbing music. Yet when they gather weekly they indulge in the same airy persiflage so often associated with Rotarian diners.

The luncheon is always attended by some distinguished visitor who is the guest of honor and makes a brief speech. Among the many so honored are: Herbert Hoover, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Gene Tunney, Katherine Mayo, Otto Kahn, Count Von Luckner, Max Reinhardt, Jascha Heifetz, Jeritza and so on.

The present president is Clarence Buddington Kelland, the writer. The other four presidents were Tom Mason, James Montgomery Flagg, W. A. Rogers and George B. Mallon. The organization was started in 1906 by Robert S. Yard and Thomas L. Masson, who then edited "Life."

From a small beginning it has grown until the waiting list is almost a block long. The annual show is a rousing, ribald affair and is written, produced and acted solely by members. It is one night in the year when the town's brilliants remain up to greet the dawn—with a huzzah or a hiccup.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

State highway departments report that many small towns now wish to be taken off the main highways. A few years ago nothing irritated the town folk more than to have the big road routed around them. Finally they have become tired of being knocked down by transcontinental speedsters. They are also tired of the endless monotony of the traffic line. Automobiles are more useful than ever, but not so exciting to look at as they once were.

A Minneapolis preacher—the Rev. Phillips Osgood—says the Sunday-school has outlived its usefulness and should be abolished. He says it undermines the church. Parents send their children to Sunday-school and make that an excuse for not going to the church service. The argument looks weak and is weak. Some Sunday-schools have outlived their usefulness. There are many today conducted in such a way and with such lessons that young people learn nothing about life and its problems. They are not prepared for living. That is the fault of the teachers and the kind of lessons that are used. It is not an indictment of the idea of Sunday-school. Get the right teachers, the right texts, and the right system, and Sunday-school is one of the great character building enterprises of life.

Gar Wood, famous as a motor boat owner and racer, is interested in a new device for penetrating the immeasurable miles of space between the planets and the stars. In this case, however, light and not man will be the traveler. Wood, with others, plans the building of a new telescope which will have a mirror 300 inches in diameter. This is almost three times the size of the great mirror in California. But there is a greater difference than in mere size. Wood's mirror will be made of stainless steel instead of glass. A glass mirror can not be built of such huge size. Steel can. Shall we look far into the moon? Shall we learn the secrets of Mars?

If you can't spell, don't accept it as a trick of fate, and do nothing about it. If you are grown up it may be harder, but it can be done. And neither the child nor the school system is to be excused if pupils in the grades do not learn to spell. Spelling may be a "gift" with some, but it can be learned by anybody who is not too lazy to try.

And now let's take especial notice of the case of Helen Jensen, thirteen-year-old winner of the national spelling bee held in Washington. She won $1,000. That means Helen can go to high school. Her mother thought Helen would have to go to work, but now she can continue with her education. Here is a case in which spelling paid large dividends.

Begin Exercises Now for Season at Beach

BY JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

ALTHOUGH swimming will shortly be the waistline and fetters of flesh there still is that awful task of reconstruction to be faced Those who wonders are now being performed And the knowledge that the end of the bathing season will have solved your entire problem does not help one bit Now that you must appear unimproved in scanty revealing bathing costume How are if you hurry and do these exercises twice each day for the next two or three weeks you may still get your first appearance Then continued on through the Summer along with your swimming None will have to be hard in shame when she sees your lovely figure

Exercise One

Exercise 1—Is to limber up the shoulder muscles as well as those around the ribs so don't omit it from the routine even though it doesn't seem to be working out the waist or abdominal muscles as much as the later ones Stand erect with the heels about three inches apart and the toes pointing straight ahead Draw the upper part of the body to its full height extend the arms straight out in front of the body on a level with the shoulder Turn the palms down swing the arms back as far as you can inhaling as you do Exhale while bringing them back to enter Inhale while swinging them over the head exhale while coming back to center position Repeat until the arms have been swung back and then upward ten times each This is sufficient to loosen up the muscles although you may increase the number of times after the first week

Exercises Are Easy

Exercise 2—Erect standing position heel to heel toe to toe pointing straight ahead Arms bending on in even line with the shoulder Inhale deeply while bending over to the right side as far as you can Keep both feet flat on the floor and all motion at the waistline Let the right arm point down as far as it will and the left one go as far up in the air as possible Exhale while coming back to original position Inhale deeply while bending over as far to the left as you can keeping the same arm positions as for the right bend Repeat until you have bent ten times to each side

Exercise 3—Erect standing position but with heels about eighteen inches apart and toes turned slightly in This is to steady the body and help you keep your balance later in the exercise Inhale as you raise the arms high over the head with the palms turned forward and then exhale while swooping them down as low and as far back of the body as you can Inhale while coming back to upright position and repeat ten times

Exercise 4—Lie flat on the back on the floor Extend the arms over the head with the palms turned up Keeping the heels on the floor swing the arms forward until the tips of the fingers touch the toes Yes it can be done after a little practice! Exhale while lowering the body to a resting position again and repeat twenty times

Reduces Waistline

Exercise 5—Still lying flat on the back interlace the fingers of both hands securely and then rest the back of the head in the interlocked hands Keep the heels close together and the toes pointing up Inhale while raising the right leg straight up in the air without bending the knee Exhale while slowly lowering it Inhale and raise the left leg exhale and lower it Alternate in this manner until each leg has been raised ten times

None of these exercises is a bit difficult and it is simply amazing how soon they will change the contour of your waistline and abdomen if you will do them conscientiously twice each day As you become more familiar with the routine and the muscles about the waistline increase the number of times you go through each movement

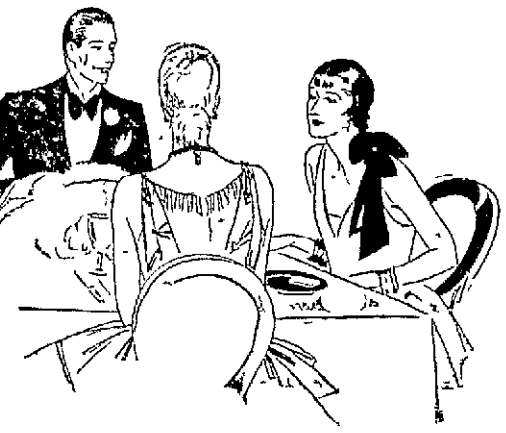
Cheap Bread Cheats Those who want the Best

There IS a difference in bread



FEW people buy cheap bread merely to save money. They think they are getting good bread at a saving.

This is a great mistake, for cheap bread, lacking needed nourishment, of doubtful purity, costs far more than the best of bread in fact.

The food value lacking in cheap bread must be made up by more expensive foods.

Holsum bread with its full-value nourishment takes the place of expensive foods.

For true economy, for full-value, for refreshing health, hundreds are changing to Holsum.

Thousands have changed to Holsum. Have you?

BY BOB ELLIOTT

John Clark lawyer by vocation and baseball manager by avocation had just one decision to make before the Calvary Epworth No 1 game last night at Lincoln Park for the leaders position in the first church loop and he guessed wrong A result Calvary minus their star hurler

Rube Gruber handed Mr Clarke's Methodists a sound thumping by a score of 7 to 1 and now rest securely in first place with six victories and no defeats

This said decision was in regards as to whether or not he should start Bob Gamble his ace mound man who has been on the sick list for over two weeks and was evidently not in shape to face the hard hitting lineup of the loop leaders But the lanky one said he was ready to go and felt that he could hold Robbins Nemeyer and the Baldauffs for at least three or four innings But for once in his young life he was wrong and he came out of the ball game about ten minutes after it started with five Calvary runs in pol by cut in the first inning and M Gibson pitched on third base Zig Snyder took up the pitching duties allowed Midkiff a scratch single through second Last that tallied Cal on and then retired the side without further damage

Messenger Tough

After the first frame it was a beautiful ball game with each pitcher giving up one run and Messenger allowing five singles and Snyder one less However the M E's couldn't do a whole lot with the offerings of the Mr Messenger and with the winners playing a sensational defensive game it was just too bad

The six run splurge of the winners in the first inning came about in the following manner W Baldauf walked and when Gamble allowed Robbins a pop fault to fall safe along the first base line men were on first and second with no out Nemeyer doubled to left and Baldauf plated Robbins followed him across and Nemeyer took third when Hinkle kicked the ball around W Baldauf walked and Nemeyer scored a moment later when McAninch bobbled C Messenger's easy grounder over the third base bag W Baldauf and C Messenger brought in runs No 5 and 6 when M Gibson drove a long triple to deep left that finished Gamble and the rest you know

The winners seventh run came in the second frame on a walk two infield hits and an error by Ramirez The losers scored their sole tally in the fifth when Snyder opened with a long triple over Courtney's head in right He scored as Robbins was throwing out Hinkle at first

Baptists In Win

Robbins was the star of the game accepting nine hard chances at third base faultlessly He also batted a

RAIN HINDRANCE TO STATE TENNIS PLAY

48 Singles and Doubles Tilts on Card for Today's Play in Cleveland.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND June 18 — Forty eight singles and doubles tilts were scheduled to be played today in the Ohio State tennis tournament at the Lunar Tent Pinquet club here unless the weather messes things up again with rain And from all indications during the morning hours it appeared as though the weather was going to do that little thing

It rained a terrific but not soon enough to clip all of the matches of the first and second round play Unless threatening Irish George Jennings Chicago seeded No 1 in the tournament won an impressive match from Ed Weed The score was 60 60 And then it started to rain

Cliff Marsh Buffalo seeded No 4 forced Bud Tracy of Columbus out of the tournament with the loss of only one game 61 60 Tracy is a former Ohio State tennis captain

Undaunted by a downpour of rain Ed Howard Cleveland and Howard Cooper Youngstown played off their match with rain soaked balls How ard eliminated Cooper 108 61

Karl Reid defeated Steeler of Elkhart Ind with an easy 60 61 Herb Wilcox drew a bye in the first round now goes into third

Local Railroad Team Wins Fostoria Battle

Marion G & O baseball nine defeated the Fostoria team yesterday afternoon at that city by a score of 11 to Bill Darnell hurling for the locals struck out 19 of the home team while Moser his opponent set down 7 of the Marionites via the three strike route Koontz caught for Marion and Armstrong for Fostoria

"DIGGERS" LOOK FOR TOUGH BATTLE WITH ALLEN COUNTY TEAM

Local Lineup To Be Shifted for Tilt, Rizor's Bad Knee Not Improving

Marion Steam Shovels baseball team will still be trying for a sixth N E I win when it tackles the South Elm Independents next Sunday afternoon at Lincoln Park The season record of the local nine stands at three victories and two defeats the setbacks being registered in the last two weeks by the Lot in Oil monitors and the Columbus All Pros Wins have been scored against the Springfield Fort Clothers Columbus Keystones and Springfield Kuhn Clothiers

The visiting team next Sunday will present a fast lineup as the Marion pilot will have to face this year's best record defeated in six starts However they are not in the big time class as the Elm City Central league team which has its spring training in the location is The Elms team worked out late with the feature probable pitcher in case of close 500 at the end of the training period Their six wins this season gives the Independents a record of 24 games won to 26 starts in the last two seasons the 1929 record being 18 won out of 50 played

New Player Added

Manager Leon of the Shovels announced today that the Marion nine if use would shortly be strengthened by the addition of Harry Pine will to short Shoup will take over third base and Elm Rizor will take a short vacation until his knee gets in better shape The injury to his knee sidelined him for a great deal against the Allens and Bacon thought the rest would do him Pine will play in the utility number responsible treatment this week and Elm be able to keep on playing Pine will still go to the shortfield and Shoup will take over the utility duties until further notice

Former minor leaguers dot the line up of the Elma team as well as a list of semi pro players that need little introduction to local fans He Wortman erstwhile Ohio State football and baseball star plays first base and mails among the best left handed initial sackers in semi pro ranks He is a fairly hard hitter and leading the team in stolen bases

The pitchers include Louis Layden former Central league Canton southpaw from Toledo and Vern Shale formerly in Pacific coast league Warren Schaffer is the receiver The infield includes McClain at second Doc Dore at short and George Williams at third All three are supposed to be plenty fast and hard hitters McClain leads in batting average of 300 for 1929 while Dore clouted at 400 clip in 24 games last season Williams is a former Wittenberg star and captain

The outfield is composed of Bishop in left Les Schaffter in center and Lyman in right If rumors are to believe their face worth Bishop hasn't dropped a fly ball in three years and batted for a 372 average last season

The entire team with a few minor changes defeat Marion both at Lincoln and the Marion lot in the 10 S season The locals most of whom were on that team will put up a fight for revenge and it should be a battle worth watching

DRAAK FOULS HILLS IN MAIN BOUT HERE

Semi Final Scrap Between Banaski-Chick Outshines Feature Match of Shovel Card

BY KARL R McELROY

The wrestling feud between Tom Draak and George Hills that had its inception last spring in Canada and ended with both men taking a months vacation in a hospital was continued at the Steam Shovel gym here last night with results almost equally disastrous

Although neither is being treated for physical injuries today both are suffering from mental injuries Draak had his Holland pride injured by the referees decision that gave the match to Hills in the second fall on a foul Hills respect for Draak is much lower as a result of the straight hold that gave him the victory

The boys great love for each other continued to be exhibited in the dressing room following the match Hills insisted on putting each other on the back and sometimes in the front—with tightly clinched fists Both are willing to return to the Marion ring in a boxing exhibition and local promoters may make an effort to bring them back

Draak Takes First

Draak won the first fall in 8 minutes 7 flight body slam threw the Canadian off balance and before he could recover he was pinned Referee Hills had been holding the upper hand in the match The second fall that ended the match came in about five minutes Draak clamped too hard on Hills neck and failed to let up until the referee and several excited patrons pried them apart

The real honest to goodness match of the evening that had all the fans yelling for more came in the semi final that found Joe Banaski and Duke Chick wrestling to a 30 minute draw

The short battle found every second filled with excitement and will go down in Marion mat history as one of the hardest fought contests of the season Chick and the Pole on handshook right but the Chicagoan made up for the difference in fight He hazed Chick from the ring several times and hooted to a great advantage

Bell Wins

Hugh Bell gave the best exhibition of his career in the preliminary when he was given the referee's decision in a handicap match with Bob Eaton Eaton weighing 12 pounds more than Bell was superior to his opponent but was unable to apply his holds to a great degree He pinned Bell twice but failed to get the necessary second fall

BOBBY JONES GETS 70 IN FIRST ROUND OF BRITISH TOURNEY

Atlanta Barrister Shoots Sensational Golf To Take Lead.

HOYLAKE Eng June 18—Showing true championship form Bobby Jones of Atlanta Ga took an early lead in the competition for the British open golf championship today by carding a 70 equalling the course record for his first round of play

Going to the turn in 36 over the difficult Royal Liverpool course Bobby fairly flew home on the wings of the birdies he captured coming in for a 34

Favored from the start to win the British open to keep company with the British Amateur crown which he captured recently at St Andrews the course burning Bobbie set a heart breaking pace for others in the competition With a total of 296 strokes calculated by the dopesters as amply sufficient to lift the championship this year Jones spent the tournament with an average 280 pace

His 70 was four strokes under his nearest competitor who had finished ahead of him Included among those who had finished with 74s for the day were Don Moe young Portland Oregonian and member of the American Walker Cup team of which Jones is captain and two British stars C A Wolcombe and Philip Rodgers

Sure but sure the New York Yankees are pounding their way back to the top of the American league pennant race and they are doing the trick with their powerful bats

The siege began five days ago at Detroit

If Cleveland Indians fell victims to the Yankees big bats yesterday for the third straight time losing 14 to 2 when Roy Sherid held them to seven scattered hits Lou Gehrig connected with his eighteenth home run of the season among his four hits while Earl Combs and Harry Rice also combed four Indian hurlers for four hits each

The Senators had a chance to move at a front as the Athletics were idle but Walter Johnson team found the St Louis Browns in one of their hitting moods so lost 12 to 3 Goose Goslin once of the Senators led the St Louis attack with his first home run as a member of the Browns

The Boston Red Sox hammered three White Sox pitchers hard to win 8 to 1 The triumph was Boston's fifth over Chicago in six games

In contrast to yesterday's free hitting free scoring contest, the Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Phillies locked in a pitchers duel to feature the abbreviated Natural league schedule The Phillies won 3 to 0 in 10 innings Chester Nichols pitching his first year with the Phillies and Southpaw Larry French were the opposing hurlers They were both hard at times but managed to keep the batters hits well scattered The teams were tied at four all going into the tenth but Lefty O Doul came through with a single to score Southern with the winning run Pie Traynor led the Pirates four run attack in the sixth sending the ball over the right field fence Klein hit in his twenty sixth consecutive game

The Boston Braves climbed into first division with a double header victory over the Cincinnati Reds

POLICE AND FIREMEN'S RELIEF BILL PASSED

Action of Bucyrus Council Provides Funds for Employes of City; Requirements for Men Higher.

Special To The Star

BUCYRUS, June 18—Legislation providing for the establishment and maintenance of a police and a firemen's relief fund was adopted by city council Tuesday night, after months of discussion.

The ordinance was given its first reading last November and was tabled at that time pending action by the supreme court on the case of the city of Bucyrus against the state industrial commission in which the higher court ruled that the state industrial commission is not liable for damages when a city indemnity fund is maintained. Legislation passed last night repeals the firemen's indemnity fund passed in 1921 and provides for a police and firemen's relief funds in accordance with the provisions of the amended senate bill enacted by the general assembly.

The legislation provides for the appointment of a board of trustees who will make the rules and regulations. Provision for the fund will be made by a taxy levy not to exceed 3-10 of a mill to be levied annually.

Immediately upon the passing of the ordinance a resolution, providing that the civil service commission limit competitive examinations for firemen and policemen to the age of 35 years and require a thorough physical examination of all applicants, was adopted.

Legislation providing for the advertising for bids, the awarding of a contract and for the appropriation of funds not to exceed $15,000 for a new filter system at the city waterworks plant was adopted by the council.

A communication from the merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce asking that council take action to prevent scavenger trucks from passing through and parking in the business district was received by council and referred to the finance committee when Mayor Arthur Schuler made the suggestion that, as the merchants themselves were the principal offenders, that council require merchants to pay for a permit to have decaying matter hauled away from their places of business. Mayor Schuler stated that it is the practice for merchants to allow farmers, for a nominal sum, to haul away garbage and other matter from the places of business in open wagons and barrels rather than to pay the regulation amount for the city garbage department to remove the refuse.

Further protests against the notices of the storm water sewer improvement sent to property owners with the past two weeks were received by council when a petition signed by 30 property owners in the proposed new storm water sewer system was received. The petition charged that no benefits would be derived from the improvement. It was explained by council and City Engineer Frank Neidenhiser that the assessments would be made according to benefits derived, the benefits to be decided by a board of disinterested parties. Legislation providing for the establishment of the storm water sewer system was passed several weeks ago.

A petition requesting that Hull avenue be placed in a passable condition was received by council and referred to the service director.

The issuance of 10 building permits during the month of May was reported by the city clerk and the mayor's report for the month disclosed receipts of $98.00 for fines and licenses.

USED CARS

DO YOU BELIEVE A USED CAR IS A GOOD INVESTMENT?

We do because—
You get more for your money in a good used car bought from an established dealer.
The price you pay is the last price less the depreciation, less a future depreciation due to a surplus of used cars on the market.
On a time payment basis your initial expenditure and your monthly outlay are both surprisingly low.

FIRE AND THEFT INSURANCE COST LESS ON USED CARS

LAST NIGHT at the THEATERS
"Hold Everything" Packed with Laughs
ACTING on the theory that one good laugh deserves another Winnie Lightner and Joe Brown started in one of the funniest pictures seen here this year in Hold Everything at the Palace tonight and Thursday night.
Judging from the reception by the crowd last night it is safe to say that the show holds plenty of laugh for everyone.
Joe Brown is at his best wise cracking, hoofing and continually attempting to flirt with other women than his alleged sweetheart Winnie Lightner.
The show is crowded with action and snappy songs. The story includes the adventures of Joe as a would be pugilist and Winnie as his sweetheart. Georges Carpentier, a real fighter and Sally O'Neil as his love story cut out a serious part of the play with as much success as Winnie and Joe will away with comedy honors.
Everything leads up to the big fight in which Carpentier fights and wins the final test and Joe Brown accidentally wins the prelim. Of course the girls play an important part in helping the two pugilists win and come around for their rewards in the form of engagement rings.
Two comedies and a news reel complete the Palace bill. R. B.
